ENGINEERS THREATEN TO TIE UP TERMINAL

Steamboatmen Whose Licenses Were Revoked Call on American Federation for Aid.

ULTIMATUM BY SATURDAY.

Wiggins Ferry Being a Part of the Terminal Railroad Association Involves General Issue of Recognizing Organized Labor.

Marine engineers formerly employed by the Wiggins Ferry Company, whose licenses were revoked by United States Government inspectors for striking, announced yesterday that unless a compromise be reached by Saturday the entire force of the Terminal Railroad Association may become involved in the strike.

The pilots have organized and are now waiting for a charter from the American Federation of Labor. The engineers believe that they will receive the active support of men connected with all steamboat lines delivering freight to Wiggins ferry.

Wiggins ferry is part of the Terminal Association. Likewise the marine engineers are a part of the American Federation of Labor, with which the trainmen and conductors, switchmen and engineers of the Terminal are identified.

At the headquarters of the engineers' unions, northeast corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets, meetings were held practically all day yesterday. The sessions were executive, but it was admitted that the American Federation of Labor is deeply concerned since the point at issue is the vital one of recognizing organized labor.

This point was raised when the Wiggins Ferry Company refused to treat with Jas. W. Gill, the business agent of the marine engineers, on the grounds that he was not an employee but an outsider.

"We will appeal to the authorities at Washington in reference to the revocation of licenses," said Patrick Fitzgerald, who like Wiggins Ferry, has only one to see representatives of the newspapers.

VITAL POINT AT ISSUE.

"Meantime," he said, "we wish to state that the vital principle of organized labor is jeopardized by the decision of the Government inspectors when they sanction the contention of President W. K. Kavanaugh of the Wiggins ferry that Mr. Gill has no right to represent us. The facts are these:

"Mr. Gill is employed by all the engineers' unions, marine and otherwise, to attend to their affairs. He is not a delegate, but he has an office here at Fourth and Chestnut streets, where he informs the members where they can find employment, and where individuals, firms and corporations, like Wiggins Ferry, for instance, could telephone. If they needed an engineer, and secure one without trouble. The men pay Mr. Gill a salary.

"In cases of disputes like the present, we hold that we have a right to delegate Mr. Gill to represent us. He is not a delegate by the Wiggins Ferry Company, but he is employed by us, and the question is, 'Have we a right to organize and employ a representative?'

"As an answer to his question, Mr. Fitzgerald recalled that Judge Adams in the famous Washburn injunction case, where the pilots invited were similar to the one held that union labor has a right to call upon such aid as an organization under such circumstances.

"In regard to the second demand for an increase in wages, we want to say this," Mr. Fitzgerald continued.

"After the first demand for a 15 per cent in wages was granted by the Wiggins Ferry Company on April 25, the engineers found that the clause for overtime after two hours' work was only 30 cents an hour, instead of the union scale of regular time and one-half extra.

"We also found that the new scale prepared would actually reduce the pay of some of the expert engineers. And after all is said, only demand a 15 per cent increase of 15 per cent, a twelve-hour working day and pay and a half for overtime.

"President Kavanaugh of the Wiggins Ferry charged that the engineers quit on April 25 without having given twenty-four hours' notice. Mr. Fitzgerald says that thirty hours' notice was given by Gill, the agent.

OTHER UNION NOTIFIED.

"Marine engineers," said Mr. Fitzgerald, "have been working thirteen and fourteen hours a day for $5 and $6 a month. There are men digging ditches in St. Louis and they know nothing else, who are making much more money than we are. We are hardy men, but when one considers the years of toil and the intelligence an engineer must have."

"Letters to other unions connected with the American Federation of Labor were prepared last night, and it is expected that the matter will be acted upon by them before Saturday. The Terminal Association and the Wiggins Ferry Company may be served with an ultimatum before the end of the week.

The licenses of seventeen former Wiggins Ferry engineers were cancelled by the inspectors of the Federal Building yesterday, and will be cancelled to-day.

An appeal will be made to Captain Ralph J. Whitledge, the Supervising Inspector of this district, or to the Supervising Inspector General at Washington, and in case of an opinion adverse to the engineers the matter will be carried into the Federal courts.

About half of the Wiggins Ferry boats were running yesterday, and the management said that there will be no trouble in filling the places of the strikers, and commerce will not be interrupted.

SAYS CUMMINGS HAD MONEY.

But Chief Desmond Has Not Investigated the Story.

Chief of Detectives Desmond and Detective Henry Harrington both declare that they have made no effort to ascertain where Dennis Cummings was on the day that he was shot by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Cummings.

Chief Desmond says he knows nothing of the report that Cummings had a large roll of money on the day he was killed. It is reported that Mrs. Clara Gable of No. 2301 Olive street says Cummings visited her and displayed considerable money when about to pay for a room he selected at her house. But, noting that there was no gas jet in the room, he decided not to take it, and returned the money to his pocket.

When Cummings's body was searched no money was found in his pockets. Mrs. Cummings had about $15 when she surrendered at the Four Courts after killing her husband.

She has admitted, according to Assistant Chief Keeley and Detective Harrington, that she took a letter she had written from her husband's pocket after she shot him.

Cummings, according to Mrs. Gable, returned to the house at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with a trunk. He did not pay for the room at the time Mrs. Gable says she did not notice that he was intoxicated. At 3 o'clock he was shot. The trunk has been taken to the Coroner's office and searched. Nothing of value was found in it.

MAY LOSE THEIR CITIZENSHIP.

Naturalization Papers of 300 Foreigners to Be Revoked.

United States District Attorney D. P. Dyer yesterday asked the United States Circuit Court to declare null and void the naturalization papers of 300 Russian Jews, Italians and Armenians, which had been issued them by the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

The papers date through a period of two years. It is alleged that the persons to whom the naturalization papers were issued could not speak English and were not compelled to go through the regular form of questioning, but that they simply turned in forged papers of naturalization.

It is in connection with some of these cases of alleged fraudulent naturalization that the judgments against Thomas E. Barrett and associates for $250 for forgery of naturalization papers were rendered.

NEGRO HAD KEPT HIS WORD.

Charles Turner Surrenders to Police After Stabbing Ella Lacey.

"Well, I'm as good as my word, Mr. Bunting. I've done killed a woman and I'm here to give myself up to you."

Charles Turner, a negro, yesterday accosted Policeman Bunting of the Fourth District with these words. Patrolman Bunting, explaining the negro's announcement, stated that some time ago he arrested Turner for stabbing a woman. At the time of his arrest, Turner threatened that he would kill Ella Lacey, a negro, and when he did so he would come to the policeman and surrender.

Bunting investigated Turner's statement and found Ella Lacey in a room at No. 126 Morgan street, so badly cut that the City Hospital physicians declare she cannot live. A warrant charging Turner with assault to kill has been issued.

CARPENTER AWARDED $7,500.

Arthur Forbes Was Hurt at World's Fair Grounds.

Arthur Forbes, a carpenter, yesterday obtained judgment in Judge McDonald's division of the Circuit Court against John J. Dunn, a contractor, for $7,500 for injuries received June 25 last by falling while working on the Textile building of the World's Fair.

A cross timber, extending from a scaffold to the building, on which he was standing, gave way and he fell thirty-two feet to the ground. Both of his feet were broken and the bones of his left ankle and leg crushed. The limb was amputated nine inches below the knee.

CROW AND HAMLIN TO MEET FRIDAY IN DRAINAGE CASE.

Attorney Generals of Two States Will Question Expert Witnesses on the Point Test of Canal's Current.

A telegram was received yesterday by the attorney for Missouri and the City of St. Louis from one of the witnesses, who announced that it would be impossible for him to reach St. Louis before this evening, and in view of there being no other witnesses on hand, the argument was taken yesterday afternoon until to-morrow morning, and announcement made that the session would be held at the Southern hotel instead of at the City Hall.

All of yesterday was consumed in the examination of the several men who had charge of the floats which were placed in the canal and timed on their trip to the St. Louis waterworks intake. They were cross-examined closely by the Chicago attorneys, after telling of the floats had traveled the distance in ten days, six hours and three minutes.

Experts are expected to determine whether the passage of the floats is a fair test of the flow of the stream, and the fact that the Attorney Generals of both States will be present when they testify indicates that the testimony to be taken Friday will be important in settling the point at issue between Chicago and St. Louis arising from the discharge of the city's sewage into the source of this city's water supply and the alleged polluting thereof.

CLEW TO BARNETT'S SLAYER.

Detective Shevlin Believes He Has Trace of the Man.

The coroner has returned a verdict that Byard Barnett was murdered in the lunch stand at Twenty-first and Chestnut streets early Monday morning by persons not known.

Detective Shevlin, who is working on the case, is confident that he has at last struck a clew that may lead to the slayer. He has been told, it is said, that the three men with whom Barnett was seated in the lunch stand, after the road employees. One of them, it is said, lives on South Jefferson avenue. If this man can be found, the man with gunshot wounds probably will be located also.

The police content that this man must be the slayer. If he is not, they figure that he would come in and explain where he was at the time Barnett was killed, and not remain in hiding.

SCHAWACKER PAYS REID BOND.

Circuit Attorney Folk's Collections Rapidly Increasing.

Chris Schawacker yesterday paid to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Criminal Cases $1,096.65, the amount of the bond and costs in the case of George Reid, who was charged with assault and ran away after the Republican politician had become his surety.

This is the second $1,000 bond Schawacker has had to pay in the last seven months. It makes the amount of forfeited bonds collected by Circuit Attorney Folk $5,000, double the amount collected by any of his predecessors in the last twelve years.

The Kratz bond was the largest, amounting with costs to about $2,500. It was the largest bond ever collected in Missouri. He also collected $5,000 on the bond of John K. Murrell.

Proceedings against the bondsmen for Louis and Max Sovner will begin shortly. They forfeited bonds amounting to about $500.

PRESIDENT WALKER RESIGNS.

Head of Big Dry Goods Company Retires Because of Illness.

William H. Walker has resigned as president of the Ely & Walker Dry Goods Company. His resignation, which took effect the first of the week, was caused by ill health, which will necessitate Mr. Walker taking an indefinite rest from business. It is Mr. Walker's intention to spend several months in Europe, visiting Carlisle and other health resorts on the Continent.

David R. Calhoun, formerly vice president of the company, has been chosen to succeed Mr. Walker. Dr. D. D. Walker, Jr., was elected vice president and W. E. M. Morgan second vice president. These are the only changes which will be made at present.

Mr. Walker has been connected with the Ely & Walker Dry Goods Company for more than twenty-three years. He worked the business as a boy, and exerted through the various positions of the company the highest order of business ability, and the present prominent standing of the company is largely due to his tact and judgment.
